Bio

Professor Felicity Gerry QC is an international QC at Carmelite Chambers, London and Crockett Chambers, Melbourne, largely defending in serious and complex trials and appeals at every level of court, often with an international element, including terrorism, biosecurity and international logging. Admitted in England & Wales and Australia, she has also had ad hoc admission in Hong Kong and Gibraltar. She was Legal Personality of the Year 2016 and has been recognised in the Legal 500 as a leading silk and as “Fearless and independent minded”. She led a team of academics and practitioners who were given leave to file an Amicus Curiae Brief in the ICTY Radovan Karadžić Appeal and led the appeal in R v Jogee in the UK Supreme Court which was described by the BBC as a ‘moment of genuine legal history’.

She is Professor of Legal Practice at Deakin University where she lectures in Criminal Law and ‘Modern Slavery’ and she is currently a PhD candidate researching the use of technology to combat human trafficking. Her publications focus on the fields of women & law, technology & law and reforming justice systems. Felicity is widely published including contributing to Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Law and Practice 2018, Annotated Leading Cases of International Criminal Tribunals and the ICC Moot Court Manual for the International Bar Association.

Felicity has provided training to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Modern Slavery Project and the Bangladesh Judiciary Management Project. She has been involved in submissions to Governments leading to changes in the law on Modern Slavery, FGM and Reproductive Rights. She is involved in various projects including leading a four- year project on women in prison for Halsbury’s Law Exchange (part of the Lexis Nexis group) and leading a small Indigenous Justice and Exoneration Project which submitted a successful petition for mercy for a young Aboriginal man who was the subject of the LOGIE nominated documentary Zak Grieve.

She has appeared in the BAFTA nominated FGM documentary The Cruel Cut, ABC Foreign Correspondent’s documentary Saving Mary Jane, various documentaries and on all major news channels as well as writing regularly for the broadsheet and legal press. She is regularly called upon to speak at conferences and other events. Past presentations include a Keynote Address for the IBA Corporate litigation section: Towards Global Corporate Criminal Liability. She mentors young lawyers in a Trial Counsel Development Program.
